Assistant Professor of Data Science and Analytics
School of Data Science and Analytics

Kennesaw State University is now accepting applications for full-time, nine-month, tenure track Assistant Professor of Data Science and Analytics faculty positions in the School of Data Science and Analytics that begins August 2024.

Responsibilities
- Teaching a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses in applied statistics, analytics, and data science
- Active scholarship activities consistent with an R2 institution (such as, but not limited to, publications in journals, patents, successful external grant funding, etc.)
- Mentor undergraduate and/or graduate students in research
- Service to the School, College, and University as needed

Teaching assignments will be based on earned degrees and SACSCOC Faculty Credentials Guidelines.

Required Qualifications Include
- A Terminal/Doctorate degree, or the foreign equivalent, in Data Science, Data Engineering, Analytics, Statistics, Biostatistics, or a related discipline, is required. For ABDs, required degree must be earned by start date.
- Proficient in at least one analytical programming language (e.g., R, Python, SAS)
- Evidence of and/or potential for scholarship and/or creative activities

Preferred Qualifications Include
- Evidence of and/or potential to teach undergraduate and/or graduate courses in statistics, analytics, data science, or closely related field
- Evidence of and/or potential to work in an interdisciplinary, collaborative setting (such as consulting center rotation, collaboration in an applied setting, industry experience, etc.)

For a full description of this position, application deadlines, and application procedures, visit https://hr.kennesaw.edu/careers.php. Search for Job ID 266702.

For more than 50 years, Kennesaw State University has been known for its entrepreneurial spirit and sense of community. A leader in innovative teaching and learning, Kennesaw State is located just north of Atlanta, and combines a suburban setting on two metro-Atlanta campuses in Kennesaw and Marietta. As one of Georgia's largest universities, Kennesaw State offers undergraduate and graduate degrees, including a growing number of doctoral programs. A member of the University System of Georgia, Kennesaw State is committed to becoming a world-class academic institution positioned to broaden its academic and research missions and expand its scope on a local, regional and national level.

Kennesaw State University is an Equal Employment Opportunity Employer. The University is committed to maintaining a fair and respectful environment for living, work and study. To that end, and in accordance with federal and state law, Board of Regents policy, and University policy, the University prohibits harassment of or discrimination against any person because of race, color, sex (including sexual harassment, pregnancy, and medical conditions related to pregnancy), sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, ethnicity or national origin, religion, age, genetic information, disability, or veteran or military status by any member of the KSU Community on campus, in connection with a University program or activity, or in a manner that creates a hostile environment for members of the KSU community.

For additional information or to file a complaint under the provisions of this policy, students, employees, applicants for employment or admission or other third parties should contact the Office of Institutional Equity at English Building, Suite 202, eeo@kennesaw.edu, or by making a report at the following website: https://diversity-kennesaw-advocategme.symplicity.com/public_report/index.php/pid734945.