

Lecturer Position in Statistics and Data Science
Department of Statistics
The University of Georgia
Athens, GA

The Department of Statistics at the University of Georgia invites applications for a full time Lecturer position in Statistics and Data Science, starting August 1, 2021. Applicants must have a Ph.D. degree in Statistics or a related discipline by the time of appointment. Credentials should reflect a strong commitment to teaching statistics and/or data science courses and show demonstrated potential in instruction. The person in this position is expected to teach a variety of courses, from introductory-level to upper-level undergraduate or lower-level graduate courses, spanning a range of topics. The person hired is expected to be engaged in the activities of the department and to play a major role in building the University's teaching mission. We are also committed to building a diverse faculty. This is a non-tenure-track faculty rank with a career ladder.

To apply for the position, candidates should visit <https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/179867> and provide all of the requested information, including contact information for three references. At this site, candidates should also upload a cover letter, a curriculum vitae, a teaching statement that highlights experience and interest in teaching undergraduate introductory statistics, and a copy of the graduate school transcript. Review of applications will begin on January 22, 2021, and continue until the position is filled.
