

Tenure Track Assistant Professor Position

The Department of Statistical Science at Duke University in Durham, NC, invites applications for two tenure-track positions at the Assistant Professor level to begin in July 1, 2024. Applicants must combine promise of excellence in academic research with a commitment to high-quality education at the graduate and undergraduate levels. Applicants from all areas of statistical science are encouraged to apply.

Applicants should submit a cover letter, curriculum vitae, research and teaching statements, letters from three references, and one reprint/preprint via <https://academicjobsonline.org/ajo/jobs/25594>. In the cover letter, candidates are encouraged to address their contributions to making their research and learning spaces equitable and inclusive. Enquiries can be emailed to stat-tt-search@duke.edu. Further information about the Department, including our educational programs and interdisciplinary collaborations, can be found at <https://stat.duke.edu/>. Applications received by November 13, 2023 will be guaranteed full consideration.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, gender, gender expression, gender identity, genetic information, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status.

Duke aspires to create a community built on collaboration, innovation, creativity, and belonging. Our collective success depends on the robust exchange of ideas—an exchange that is best when the rich diversity of our perspectives, backgrounds, and experiences flourishes. To achieve this exchange, it is essential that all members of the community feel secure and welcome, that the contributions of all individuals are respected, and that all voices are heard. All members of our community have a responsibility to uphold these values.