

Visiting Assistant Professor

Non tenure-track faculty

The Department of Mathematics, Applied Mathematics, and Statistics at Case Western Reserve University (CWRU) is searching for a visiting assistant professor in mathematics to begin in either Fall 2022 or Spring 2023. Preference will be given to candidates whose research is in algebra, geometry, or topology and are well-suited to collaborate with current faculty. The appointment will be for a one year period with the possibility of renewal for up to two additional one-year periods.

NOTE: Due to unforeseen circumstances this search is now not only in the areas of expertise listed above, but also in Statistics. Even though the initial deadline has passed, applications are still being considered. For more information contact Dr. Jenny Brynjarsdottir at jxb628@case.edu.

All candidates should hold a Ph.D. in Mathematics or a related field by the time of the appointment, and have demonstrated both research and teaching experience appropriate to rank. Candidates should be committed to working with a diverse population of faculty, staff, and students.

Candidates should submit a letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of current and future research plans, a statement of teaching philosophy and experience, and the candidate should arrange for three letters of recommendation to be submitted directly by the writers, at least one of which should address teaching. In addition, applicants are asked to submit a statement explaining how they value diversity, equity, and inclusion within their research and discipline(s) and how their own scholarly work might contribute to structural justice inside and outside institutions of higher learning. This statement should also suggest how the candidate's work, while as a member of Case Western Reserve University, will contribute to diversity, equity, and inclusion and how moving forward they intend to foster a culture of diversity, pluralism, and individual difference. All application materials should be submitted electronically through the AMS website mathjobs.org. Applications will be reviewed upon arrival. All applications received prior to April 15, 2022, will get full consideration.
