

VALDOSTA STATE UNIVERSITY

College of Arts & Sciences
Department of Mathematics
Assistant Professor

VSYOU

The Department of Mathematics seeks applicants for an Assistant Professor. This is an academic, tenure earning faculty position in the area of Applied Statistics with experience in Data Science. Appointment date is August 1, 2018. All Valdosta State University faculty share the responsibility of teaching courses at multiple levels as needed in their respective disciplines. To carry out our comprehensive mission, we seek faculty with the desire and ability to successfully engage students as they launch or continue their intellectual journey.

We are seeking applicants with a commitment to undergraduate teaching and the ability to lead program development in the area of Data Science. Responsibilities include teaching a 4/4 load during the academic year (Fall and Spring); developing undergraduate courses; conducting an active research agenda which leads to publications in peer-reviewed venues; and providing service to the Department, College, University, and regional business community. Undergraduate course development includes statistics courses in data science and the development of a statistics minor. Some graduate level teaching and service may be assigned.

Applicants must complete all the requirements for a doctorate in Applied Statistics, Data Science, or a closely related field before the start date; have teaching experience in the field of statistics; have a demonstrated commitment to excellence in teaching and learning, as well as scholarship; and a commitment to diversity and inclusion.

The Department of Mathematics currently has 21 full time faculty, with 14 tenured or tenure-track. We offer a Bachelor of Science in Applied Mathematics, a Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics, and a Bachelor of Arts in Mathematics with Secondary Education Certification. More information about the department may be found at <https://www.valdosta.edu/colleges/arts-sciences/math/>.
